

Speaker Bios – October 19, 2018

Richard Bobos is Vice President, Medicare Partnerships at Evolent Health. Richard helps lead the Medicare team with a particular focus on designing partnerships solutions that support physicians and health systems' transition from traditional payor models to value and outcomes based strategies within the Medicare space. He currently is the organizational lead for Clinical Integration Design ("CIN") and optimization and has completed the build of 10 CINs since 2013.

Richard has over 10 years of provider operations experience, including the redesign of incentive models, practice operations, and physician engagement. Prior to joining Evolent Health, Richard managed clinical integration and population health at Advocate Health Care and Franciscan Physicians Alliance. He has extensive experience delivering outcomes based care strategies in community and academic-based systems.

Mike Cantor, MD is a geriatrician and attorney with over 20 years' experience in designing and implementing population health and quality improvement programs for health plans and healthcare providers. He is currently Chief Medical Officer (CMO) for CareCentrix, a post-acute benefits management company, and prior to that served as CMO for a large physician network for an academic medical center in Boston, where he managed network-wide population health and quality improvement programs. Mike also served as founding Medical Director for a Medicare Shared Savings Accountable Care Organization (ACO), and founding CMO for Minuteman Health, a CO-OP insurance plan, where he developed and implemented medical management programs. He has also served as medical director for Medicare Advantage and institutional and dual Special Needs Plans. He also held positions at provider organizations in New England, where he oversaw and managed new clinical programs for older people, including geriatric assessments, primary care, long term care, palliative care, and house calls programs.

Mike trained in internal medicine at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston, and did his geriatrics fellowship at Harvard Medical School. His degrees in law and medicine are from the University of Illinois.

Jeff Garbe is a licensed pharmacist and serves as Senior Director of Health System Alliances with CVS Health. His responsibilities involve collaborating together with physicians and health care executives improving medication adherence and health outcomes in support of health systems' clinical strategies and population health goals. He joined CVS Health in 1998 and has held a variety of leadership positions in the areas of clinical consulting, physician strategy, clinical marketing, sales operations and corporate social responsibility and philanthropy.

Jeff graduated from The Ohio State University College of Pharmacy in 1988 and has practiced in various disciplines of the profession including retail pharmacy, hospital, institutional pharmacy and prescription benefit management.

Sheila Johnson serves as Vice President of Population Health Clinical Operations. As a Registered Nurse with a MBA, Sheila has a clinical and business perspective. In her role, Sheila has responsibility for developing, implementing, overseeing and operationalizing Trinity Health's clinical integration strategies and vision for population health. Sheila works collaboratively across the continuum of care, especially Medical Group and Clinically Integrated Networks within Health Ministries to ensure a smooth transition to value-based care and risk sharing models. Sheila leads the implementation of a people centered care model than spans the care continuum. Components of the model include population health care management, IT and analytics, quality, patient safety, risk management and utilization efforts to produce Triple Aim results. Examples of risk sharing models include the Trinity Health ACO aka Next Generation ACO, the Trinity Health Integrated Care ACO aka MSSP Track 3 ACO, commercial ACOs and our colleague health plan. In addition to previous CIN/ACO experience, Sheila has led multispecialty group practices in the past.
